Low level nmz points guide. Low level ironman nmz guide.

Step seven: Enjoy the high XP per hour and points! This has been a very brief guide regarding NMZ and getting started. In turn making you last an incredibly long amount of time, as they will have to hit you 1000 times before you start taking damage. The Hard difficulty presents the bosses with significantly more hitpoints, making them harder to kill. What are the modes I can play NMZ in? You will not be able to survive long, it will cost many resources and you will not be able to do the best methods, thus making other methods such as sand and rock crabs much better for the lower levels. Why should you do the NMZ? This phase has you unlocking bosses before it starts, and it ends once all the unlocked bosses have been slain. Of course, the hard difficulty awards much more points than the easy one. NMZ comes in 4 different modes. You will not hit much through them and you might end up dying before you finish the minigame, thus wasting resources. Fortunately, once you finish 5 quests which have end bosses, a teleport to the minigame is unlocked. Thirdly, Prayer flick. 3 tips for NMZ starting out! Firstly, before starting out you need to look at what your goal is. There are two difficulties in which you can choose the game modes, Easy and Hard. The first one is Practice mode, this mode is just for that, practice. But don't worry, this minigame is safe so all the items you bring with you are safe as well. For these, you will need to fork up 26k and 22k respectively to begin the game. If you have full hitpoints, the maximum the bosses can hit you as far up as their maximum hit ceiling. The trick is to use the Dwarven Rock Cake to keep yourself at 1 HP constantly. The easy difficulty presents the bosses as you encountered them in the quest, with the same hit points and stats. By imbuing the rings, you double the stats on them.
